A panel of Iranian feminists will speak about how U.S. activists can take a principled stand against the violations of human rights by all the powers involved and defend progressive, life-affirming forces inside Iran, the Middle East region and the United States.

Speakers:

Elahe Amani, Chair of Women's Intercultural Network; board member, National Association for Community Mediation, Emerita, California State University; and editor of the women's section of the monthly journal, Peace Mark, a publication of Human Rights Activists in Iran (HRA).

Frieda Afary, Iranian American librarian, translator, author of Socialist Feminism: A New Approach (Pluto Press, 2022) and producer of Iranian Progressives in Translation.
